THE ROUTINE THAT GOT ME TO RADIANT

One-page summary · Gaviotache

THE ROUTINE

1 Before turning on your PC

- Sleep 7 to 8 hours, always on the same schedule.
- Water throughout the day: 2 to 3 liters, or your weight in kg × 35 ml.

2 Aim Lab — warm up your aim

- Playlist “Voltaic Valorant Warmup”.
- 4 exercises, 3 reps each.
- In exercises 1, 2 and 3: put your crosshair where you think the target will go, and shoot when it enters.
- Don’t practice tracking. It barely shows up in Valorant and builds a bad habit.

3 The Range — warm up your mechanics

- 1 minute each, always with your favorite rifle.
- Flicks — speed and accuracy, varying height and distance.
- Counter strafing with 2-bullet bursts, varied distances.
- Realistic spray transfers, no long flicks.
- Dead zoning — shoot right as you change direction.

4 Deathmatch — the final polish

- One, with intention. No autopilot.
- Three things in mind: crosshair placement, movement and calm.
- You’re not trying to win it.

5 In-session habits

- A glass of water next to your keyboard, the whole time.
- Only 2 or 3 agents.
- A break every two matches, no exceptions.
- If you get angry or tired, stop. Tilt is almost always fatigue.
- Don’t play too late: you break step 1 and tomorrow you start from the bottom.

THE RULE

Play to improve, not to win.

Ranking up is a consequence of improving, not the other way around. Look at each round as its own round: what you did well, what you did wrong and what you can improve.

Daily checklist

Before turning on your PC

- [ ] I slept 7 to 8 hours
- [ ] I went to bed and woke up at my usual time
- [ ] I'm on track for my 2–3 liters of water today (weight × 35 ml)

Warm-up (~20–30 min)

- [ ] Aim Lab — "Voltaic Valorant Warmup" playlist, 4 exercises × 3
- [ ] The Range — 1 min of flicks
- [ ] The Range — 1 min of counter strafing with 2-bullet bursts
- [ ] The Range — 1 min of spray transfers
- [ ] The Range — 1 min of dead zoning
- [ ] One deathmatch, with intention and no autopilot

During the session

- [ ] Glass of water next to my keyboard
- [ ] I stick to my 2 or 3 agents
- [ ] A break every two matches
- [ ] If I get angry or tired, I stop
- [ ] I don't stay up playing late

Play to improve, not to win.

Thanks for sticking around until the end.
